

NutriSTEP® Licensee Progress Check

Case Study Five

EatRight Ontario

Fall 2009

Background

EatRight Ontario (ERO) is a telephone, email and web based service that connects Ontarians with Registered Dietitians. It is designed to provide easy-to-use nutrition information to the consumer based on their questions. The service is funded by the Ontario Ministry of Health Promotion and managed by the Dietitians of Canada (DC). ERO is working together with the Nutrition Resource Centre (NRC) in Ontario to support the NutriSTEP® screening questionnaire. ERO is a key support and resource for parents with a preschooler trying to access nutrition information and for community agencies wanting to implement a NutriSTEP® Program.

Launch of Implementation

March 2009

Geographic Location

Ontario-wide

Focal Audience

EatRight Ontario supports parents of three and four year olds in Ontario who have already received the NutriSTEP survey in their community and Health Care providers interested in implementing a screening program.

Delivery methods

#	Method	Reach	Implementation Notes
1.	Province-wide telephone call centre/email contact service and website information		ERO does not directly promote the NutriSTEP® screening tool. General advice on where people can access the questionnaire in the community is provided. ERO's primary role is to answer parent's/caregiver's questions on preschool nutrition once the questionnaire has been completed. ERO is also able to link parents to community agencies and health professionals who can better meet their needs. ERO does not administer nor send out copies of the questionnaires

Follow-up methods

When parents receive and complete a NutriSTEP® questionnaire in their community, they are given the contact information for EatRight Ontario. ERO has developed a standardized counseling tool to support nutrition related NutriSTEP® inquiries. ERO provides callers with evidence based nutrition and healthy eating advice. Information can also be mailed out via email or regular mail. ERO can also provide community referrals to the callers when appropriate. No personal information is collected or stored. Clients can call or email as often as they like with their nutrition and health eating related questions.

Program challenges, proposed solutions

Challenge encountered	Possible solution, or way to avoid
EatRight Ontario has not received a lot of calls directly linked to the NutriSTEP screening questionnaire. Many NutriSTEP® screening programs are just in the planning and development stage,	Once NutriSTEP® is more established in the community, ERO hopes that the call centre will receive more calls/emails from parents on preschool nutrition issues. ERO will be able to direct callers to supports in the community and provide general counseling and information to parents/caregivers.

and thus may be the cause of the low volume of calls.	Eat Right Ontario will continue to promote and expand our reach of service to consumers and health professionals across Ontario through a variety of different means such as engaging stakeholders, attending health fairs and conferences and promoting through the media.
ERO is unaware of the communities that have set up NutriSTEP® screening programs.	Develop a master list of where NutriSTEP® screening is taking place across the province.

Additional support required

It would be valuable to promote ERO’s supportive role in relation to the NutriSTEP® Program through the current NutriSTEP® promotion, resources and materials. Health care providers, community agencies and screen administrators can increase ERO promotion by adding ERO contact information on client and health care professional’s resources and/or by distributing ERO promotional materials such as magnets and brochures to parents and caregivers.

Outcomes expected

- To increase nutrition and healthy eating knowledge among parents,
- To connect families with community resources, especially in situations when they are considered “high risk” or simply would like more information/follow-up,
- To support at-risk preschoolers through education and referral into the community,
- To direct interested health care professionals and organizations to resources in their community that will help them start to use the NutriSTEP® Program,
- To be recognized by the public as a credible source for nutrition and healthy eating information to support all members of the family including children.

Evaluation data

We do not have any evaluation data at this time.

Expansion plans

Desired expansion or enhancement	Barriers to proceeding in this direction?
Continue our role as a provider of community referrals and general healthy eating advice for both parents and professionals once the NutriSTEP® questionnaire has been completed.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The NutriSTEP® Program in Ontario is still in its early stages.</li> <li>• Ontarians are still learning about the Eat Right Ontario service as a source of trusted nutrition information.</li> </ul>
